

“It All Started With A Book...”

The Bride:

Name: Kristin Ing Aune

Place of Birth: Honolulu, Hawaii

Profession: Dancer and Dance Teacher

The Groom:

Name: Brian Aune

Place of Birth: Springfield, Illinois

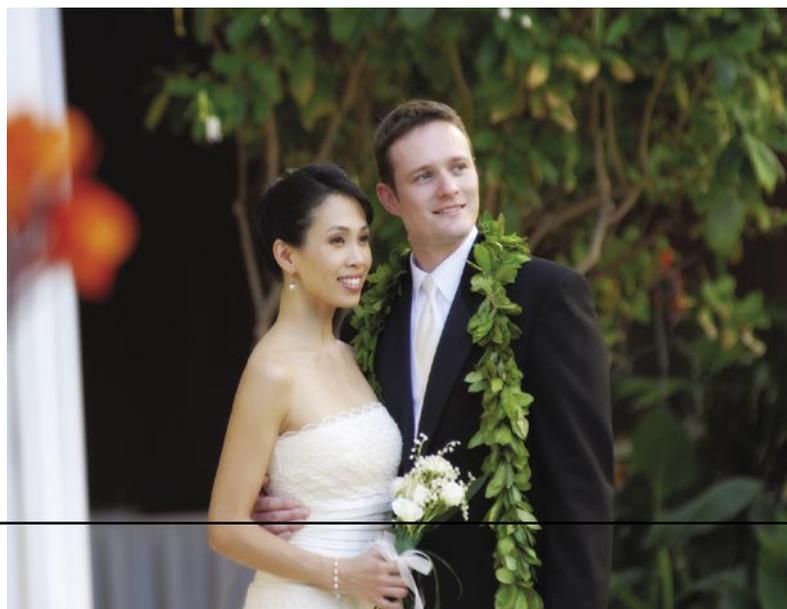

Profession: Law Student

When this Punahou girl and Yale graduate walked into Barnes and Noble, she found more than a good book but a life long partner. “He helped me find a book...” she says and it was his “... confidence, patience, and dashing good looks” that won her over.

When Kristin walked into the store, Brian, a Kaiser High School and UH grad, was immediately enchanted by her “... charm, intelligence, and beauty.”

The couple was married on May 26, 2007 at Punahou Chapel followed by a reception at Halekulani Hotel. Kristin chose the Chapel at Punahou as it was her Alma Mater and she had always loved its peacefulness and beauty since attending school and teaching there. The couple chose Halekulani for the hotel’s exceptional cuisine and elegant atmosphere.

Kristin and Brian’s wedding day was filled with so many fond memories that they will forever cherish. When asked of her most favorable wedding memory, Kristin states "... arriving at the altar where Brian was waiting and feeling so much love in the room..." It was the same for Brian as his best memory was "...watching her walk down the aisle..."

The couple would like to thank their parents, their chaplain, and their close family and friends for the making the day so very special.

Kristin's advice to future brides: "Keep it simple... and take time on your wedding day to soak it all in. It flies by!"

Brian's advice to future grooms: "Just say, 'Yes, Dear!'"

By: Melissa Motosue

Photography By: Jose Rahr of Picture This! Photography

